 Charles Edward Louis Philip Casimir, commonly known as the Young Pretender, was the eldest son of the Chevalier de S. George (James III.), and of the Princess Clementina. He sailed from France in the "Doutelle" on the 13th July, 1745, and landed in the Hebrides 2nd August, from whence with his adherents he marched south as far as Derby; from there he retreated north; and subsequently to the battle of Culloden, 16th April, 1746, was in hiding with a reward of £30,000 placed on his head, notwithstanding which he escaped in September to France, and after many vicissitudes died at Rome, 1788.

The Badge, which is unpublished, doubtless is connected with the 1745 rising. It has been, for many years, in the possession of a Jacobite family resident in the south of Ireland.
